

Ovidiu & Ligia Bulzan (Serving Throughout Europe from Romania)

Ovidiu, better known as Titi, is a key leader within both Emanuel University [In Romania] and the Romanian Baptist Union. He is widely known and respected throughout Romania and other parts of Eastern Europe among evangelicals of every background.

Titi is pioneering a new missionary effort and we are honored to have become his US sending agency, a new role for us but worthy of this unique undertaking he has been called to pursue in partnership with Crossroads Fellowship Missions Department and other evangelical organizations in Europe.

The huge migration of young people from Eastern Europe into the cities of Western European countries since 1990 has drastically impacted the European Union outside of it. From a great commission perspective, we are beginning to see the seeds of a new unprecedented grass roots church planting movement by these evangelical immigrants, especially from Romania.

Our brother Titi is uniquely prepared to serve this emerging movement. Like the movement itself his place within it is unfolding continually. However the broad needs of this church planting movement are apparent. Providing visionary leadership and pastoral care for young church leaders in churches that are not aligned under the denomination from which they have come. The need to implant a vision in these young churches to mature beyond an immigrant only style of church. It is this last need to which Titi is addressing much of his work.

Our brother is researching the Christian history of each of these nations in order to help these new immigrant churches connect with the way God has moved among these nations in the past. This is an apostolic key to seizing the vision to renew these nations for revival. It could easily be said that most European nations are now largely pre-Christian with other religious movements making a stronger presence than Historic Christianity.

We look forward to supporting and aiding our brother and our longtime Romanian partners in this emerging movement of God in Europe.
